CAMP DEWOLFE GREET'S WINTER 2014

ON-GOING CHILDHOOD & A FAITHFUL GOD

by The Very Rev. Canon John McGinty

In mid-January this year, in the midst of the howling winds, the deep snow, and the very low temperatures, a group of campers arrived at Camp DeWolfe for Winter Camp 2014. Neither the winds or snow nor the cold are any match for a group of kids come together for learning and for fun. In the air were joy, enthusiasm, hope for the next moment and the moment beyond, and all in a spirit deeply anointed by The Spirit.

Some of the fun activities were sledding, snow archery, snow gaga, bracelet-making, cupcake baking, campfires and s'mores. I was able to see some of the results of the cupcake baking (but never got to taste them!) and talked with one camper who had done fifty-three sit-ups in sixty seconds. Just the thought of it made me tired!

In every generation our children, if we allow them, if we pay attention, can show us the way. While we become worn, weary, and wary as the years pass, and perhaps convinced more of what we lack than of the blessings that not only remain but grow, children often live entirely in the present moment, rejoicing in the beauty and the joy that is here and now. And that ability – to rejoice is the beauty of the here and now – is absolutely synonymous with living in the presence of God. God is, forever and always, in the here and now. And God is here and now showering blessings on us, if only we can stop, recognize, accept, and rejoice. Continued on Page 2

ON-GOING CHILDHOOD & A FAITHFUL GOD

by The Very Rev. Canon John McGinty

Over the weekend, in the midst of all the fun, the campers memorized God's word from the prophet Jeremiah, chapter 29, verses 11 to 13. In the New Revised Standard Version: "For surely I know the plans I have for you, says the LORD, plans for your welfare and not for harm, to give you a future with hope. Then when you call upon me and come and pray to me, I will hear you. When you search for me, you will find me; if you seek me with all your heart."

These words were first proclaimed over six centuries before the birth of Christ to the people of Israel, dispirited, feeling abandoned, under attack, and led into exile. These words still live, and served at Winter Camp as the expression of God's love for, and presence in, the lives of the children and their families. As God was present in the here and now of Jeremiah's people long ago, so God is present in our time and place.

In a wonderful way, the echoes of the laughter and the stories of the triumphs of the winter campers in January are a challenge to the rest of us who, with them, are members of Christ's body the church.

They summon us to recall what the book of Revelation calls us to: that is, to recapture our 'first love' and so energized to 'do the works [we] did at first' (Rev 2:4-5). We can, if we will, allow the trust and the sense of joyful possibility of our first years to live in us today: matured, experienced, mellowed, but nonetheless still real and living, because still founded on faith in the God whom Jeremiah followed into and through distress and trouble.

Perhaps preacher and author Frederick Buechner said it best in his Telling the Truth: The Gospel as Tragedy, Comedy, and Fairy Tale: "'We weren't born yesterday. We are from [New York]. But we are also from somewhere else... If with part of ourselves we are men and women of the world and share the sad unbeliefs of the world, with a deeper part still, the part where our best dreams come from, it is as if we were indeed born yesterday, or almost yesterday, because we are also all of us children still.'" Registration for Winter Camp 2015 opens Sept 2014!

MAKING MEMORIES

Camp Alumni Stories

Growing up in East Meadow L.I. and spending 5 years at Camp, back in the 60's, was memorable. I remember becoming an exceptional water skier there. When our counselor took us out fishing, the kitchen would cook what I caught, usually Flounder. Father John Davis, his wife and family brought it all together. I was married in St. George church in Hempstead, L.I. I now reside in the Diocese of Arizona and always explain to parishioners the importance of summer camp. So as the saying goes, Thanks for the Memories!
- Sincerely, Clifford Olsen

REMEMBERING THE LATE SUFFRAGAN BISHOP OF LONG ISLAND - RICHARD BEAMON MARTIN

By Meagan Nettey

The late Suffragan Bishop Richard B. Martin's red bud tree is planted on the south side of the St Luke's Chapel at Camp DeWolfe. Bishop Martin served in the Episcopal Diocese of Long Island from 1967 – 1974. He was ordained to the priesthood in February 1943, served congregations in Virginia, South Carolina and Brooklyn and was an Archdeacon in Southern Virginia, before moving north to the New York area.

He lived a long full life – 99 years and after his death in 2012, the Episcopal Church Women in the Archdeaconry of Queens made the decision to memorialize his life and work that was deeply rooted in faith as well as his excellent mentoring of young priests.

Did I hear you ask, why a tree? Trees are wonderful, you can climb them, enjoy their shade, gather logs to burn, enhance the landscape, and add beauty and protection. In addition to esthetic values, trees convey deep truths – they show what a Christian should be – rooted deep; connected to a source; full of life and standing strong in the storm. Super storm Sandy swept Long Island - yet the red bud tree still stands proud and tall outside the chapel at Camp DeWolfe.

Yes, the tree is growing, even in the winter season, and will continue to remind us of Psalm 1:3...

"And he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of water".

Camp DeWolfe on the northern shores of Long Island is a fantastic location in memory of Bishop Richard Beamon Martin.

ON THE MOVE!

At the end of 2013, Camp DeWolfe was blessed by a HUGE gift from the Peter Treiber family - a 2013 Ford 15-passenger van! The former camp van had over 300,000 miles and was running on empty, after it's many years in mobility. This generous donation to Camp DeWolfe will provide transportation for campers and retreat guests and allow on the move camp programs too. Praise God!
